SUSTAINABLE PUBLISHING & CLIMATE CRISIS

DEMILADE OYATEMI

The graphic recording was created as a live visual response to the panel's dialogue, capturing the rhythm of ideas and emotions as they unfolded. For me, the drawing and understanding of the dialogue happened concurrently, allowing each icon, line, and colour to emerge from the atmosphere of the discussion, reflecting its coherence and shared energy. Rather than merely documenting, I sought to visualize the relational flow among participants and ideas, creating a record of the communal experience of imagining a better future together.
